

THE TRIALS
AT JACKSONJudge Hargis, the Feud
Leader, on Stand.

EWEN IS UNDER CLOSE GUARD

Will Probably Be Taken to Lexington.
Feared He Will Be Picked Off
by Sharpshooters.

Jackson, Ky., June 17.—B. L. Ewen and his family are still in the military camp here, and contributions for them are coming from all parts of Kentucky and other states. There are apprehensions that Ewen will be picked off at long range by some sharpshooters while he is in camp, and arrangements are being made for his removal to Lexington.

When court convened the defense placed Dr. J. M. Kash on the stand. Dr. Kash was the first man to reach Marcum after the assassin had shot him. Dr. Kash testified that he saw Jett on the walk at the corner of the courthouse yard ten seconds before the shots were fired. He went directly to Marcum and assisted in carrying him across the street into his office, where he died in five minutes.

Commonwealth Attorney Byrd cross examined Dr. Kash, but did not shake his story. Dr. John Taules, the Hargis family physician, was next placed on the stand, and he corroborated Dr. Kash and other defense witnesses.

Judge Hargis Called.

County Judge James Hargis, an uncle of Jett and the reputed head of the Hargis faction, was called. Hargis stated that he was inside his store when Marcum was killed. He saw White walk out of the courthouse door and was one-third across the street when the first shot was fired. "When I heard the first shot fired I saw Ewen pitch out of the door and run. I then saw Marcum fall. I came to the door hurriedly. I saw Judge Blanton approach the wounded man. I saw Curt Jett approaching the scene of the tragedy. My recollection is that I saw Dr. Kash approaching about the time the last shot was fired. I am not certain as to the exact time.

"Light Noble was in my store, and Sheriff Ed Callahan was also in the store. I was looking toward the courthouse when the shot was fired. I did not see or even look in the hall when the first shot was fired. After the killing I sent for Ewen, or Callahan sent for him."

Hargis said that he did not know who killed Marcum.

Cross examined by Commonwealth Attorney Byrd, Hargis said he saw nothing unusual in White's actions when he came out of the door.

After a few more questions Hargis was excused by the commonwealth.

MEANING OF THE MASS

WAS FULLY EXPLAINED

Fr. Sutton Spoke to a Large Audience

Last Evening On the Subject

"The Mass."

The Mass was the subject of the lecture by Rev. Fr. Sutton at St. Monica's church last evening to a very large audience. The Mass and the different parts, and the vestments that the priest wears while saying Mass were explained to all present and was very interesting especially to those who are not Catholics. Fr. Sutton explained: It is a service, held in the Catholic Church only in the forenoon, never celebrated in the afternoon. Non-Catholics who have never been present at this service have found it strange in that there is nothing whatsoever in their religion that resembles it a particle. It is entirely different and new to you, you see the priest on the altar going through certain motions, turning to the people, but most of the time with his back to the people. To begin with, the Mass is a sacrifice, and it is the sacrifice of the Body and Blood of Christ. We have ever held that from the beginning that when Christ instituted the Holy Eucharist at the last supper, that solemn supper, He himself said, that he had left us His Body and His Blood under the appearances of bread and wine.

And performing this miracle, he told the people this great miracle would continue to exist after his ascension into Heaven. He said he would be with them and give himself to them as food. He said the bread that I will give you is my flesh. They said, how can this man give us his flesh to eat. If they had made a mistake our Lord certainly corrected them. "I say unto you, unless you eat the flesh of the son of man and drink his blood, you shall not have life in you. Just before our Lord went to supper on that last evening, before separating from the Apostles, he gathered them about him to celebrate the Paschal Feast. He then took bread into his hands and said: "This is my body," and taking the Chalice likewise said: "This is my blood." How did the Apostles know that our Saviour really meant what he said? He said it was His Body, and it was changed by his omnipotent power, and the same of the wine, it was changed into his blood.

The holy Eucharist then, is a sacrament containing the body and blood, soul and divinity of Jesus Christ, besides being a sacrament, it is also a sacrifice. As a religious act, a sacrifice is the external offering of some sensible object to God. It cannot be offered to anyone but God, not even to saints, even to Joseph or Mary, but to God alone. In all religions there must be an external act of religion, and of external sacrifice. We find in all religions there have been those parts of religion called sacrifices, with only one exception, and that is in what we call Protestantism. It is the only form of religion without a sacrifice. And the sacrifice of Jesus on the cross, is the perfect sacrifice, the victim is Christ himself. In the mass the priest speaks the solemn words as if Christ were speaking, consecrating those elements, he says: "This is my body." From the beginning of the apostolic days we find this service we call the Mass. We find it celebrated by those men Christ established as his priests and ministers. From the apostles to the present day this service has been performed in the Catholic church.

The service called the Mass dates back 1900 years, over to the days of the Apostles. We find records, monuments tracing it back over to the oldest days of Christianity by all. When was it rejected? Not until after the reformation. Martin Luther tells in some of his writings, he could not reject it; that scripture was so strong he could not reject it. And did not, until the devil appeared to him and offered him arguments that it was not the right thing to do. For 1600 years until this service was going on, what we call Mass, sacrifice performed all over the world.

In England the churches are taken from Catholics, everything taken from it. The sacrifice of the Mass is the same sacrifice as that which was offered on Mt. Calvary. It is a sacrifice on the altar, of the body and blood of Christ. Before he finishes that service he partakes of those elements to show the victim has been destroyed, the separation of bread and wine which is there. Manifesting the separation which took place on Calvary, the blood from the body.

The priest in the Mass typifies Christ from beginning to end. Everything is Christ and everything has a meaning. Everything bears reference to our Saviour, everything that he says has its meaning, every action has a symbolic beautiful meaning, all ranging to the uppermost, one great act of Christ on the cross, everything refers to Christ. In conclusion Fr. Sutton said, this sacrifice has always been in the church, all religions have sacrifice, even to the barbarous tribes.

GRANITE FIRM
EXPANDINGMcDonnell & Sons Buy
Tract of Land.

WILL ERECT BIG PLANT

Deeds Passed Today With W. A. Boyce
For 167,200 Square Feet Off
Circle Street.

An important real estate deal went through today when McDonnell & Sons, granite manufacturers, purchased of William A. Boyce, a large tract of land on Batchelder's meadow, off Circle street, on which the firm will a little later erect a large plant. The purchase includes 167,200 square feet of land. It is 475 feet long by 352 feet wide. The selling price is private.

This move on the part of McDonnell & Sons is in the line of expansion, and marks an important step in the progress of a well known and old firm. McDonnell & Sons only recently established headquarters in Barre. Last November they took shed room with Bugbee & Alexander on the Batchelder's meadow, but the demands of their increasing business are such that more room is needed. They expect to remain in the same location until a new plant is erected on the lot just purchased. The new building which they will erect will be a large one and will be equipped in as good a manner as any in the city. They expect to build a plant large enough to accommodate 100 men with chance for addition.

There are already located on this meadow, in the south end of the city, the following firms, Littlejohn & Milne, Barclay Bros., Clark Bros., Robins Bros., J. F. Corliss & Sons and Bugbee & Alexander. The firm of McDonnell & Sons has four offices, located in Buffalo, N. Y., the main office, at Quincy, Mass., at Harrisburg, Pa., and in this city. The main office is in charge of E. A. and John P. McDonnell. The Quincy office is in charge of Thomas McDonnell. James McDonnell has charge of the Harrisburg plant and the Barre business is managed by Robert Q. McDonnell.

The firm now employs in this city 30 men, at the shed of Bugbee & Alexander, and the number will be added to as soon as there is shed room to accommodate them.

LAMP TIPPED OVER.

Caused Small Blaze in Office of Dr. F. M. Lynde.

A kerosene lamp in the work room of Dr. F. M. Lynde on the second floor of the D. M. Miles block, tipped over at 11 o'clock this forenoon and caused an incipient blaze. James Higgins attached a garden hose to the sill cock at the foot of the stairway and soon had the fire out. Some excited individual saw smoke and ran in an alarm from box 21, but when the fire apparatus arrived the fire was out. This is the second time the same accident has occurred in the doctor's office within a week. Dr. Lynde was quite severely burned in an attempt to put out the fire, his right hand and face being scorched. He was in the work room at the time the lamp was tipped over and with C. A. Dodge, who was also in the office, attempted to extinguish the blaze with rags.

The woodwork was scorched and the dentist's instruments somewhat damaged, but the loss is covered by insurance. All the companies responded to the alarm.
